SPECIAL EDUCATION

WHO CAN APPLY?:

Specialists with a bachelor's degree in special pedagogy or other pedagogical specialties can apply for this master's program.

TERMS OF ADMISSION:

Admission of students is in the winter semester.

The candidates are ranked and enrolled on the basis of the average grade from their bachelor's degree.

The education ends with the defense of a diploma thesis, which passes an anti-plagiarism test.

The professional qualification of the graduates of the program is: Special pedagogue - teacher for children and students with special educational needs.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The master's program enables its graduates to be realized as special pedagogues and / or resource teachers in nurseries, preschool, primary school, secondary school or other institutions.

The master's program aims at providing further in-depth expertise in the field of special education. It will enhance the students' theoretical knowledge and practical skills and develop their pedagogical, special education and social competences. In the course of study the students will acquire all the necessary skills and competences, needed for professionals who will successfully provide quality care and special therapeutic and other trainings and activities for children and students with special educational needs in nurseries, pre-schools, primary schools, lower secondary and upper secondary schools. These specialists can perform resource support, educational and therapeutic work, management and other activities for children with special educational needs in different age groups.

The diploma from the master's program is a good basis for focusing on research in the field of special pedagogy and inclusive education and continuing education in doctoral programs.
